Armand Messier of Messier's Recording Studio is pleased to announce that Deluvian Productions of Winooski, VT is now operating out of the studio through an exclusive studio collaborative agreement. Deluvian Productions is owned and operated by Matt Gadouas, Swanton native and current Winooski resident.

Matt, an avid musician and producer, has been playing in and mixing bands since 1996. His first full length album recorded was the band "Theory of Revolution", an excellent mix of funk and rock. Prior to that, he recorded demos for the band "Absolute Zero". Mp3's of both bands can be found on the samples section on his website. He also has played bass with Absolute Zero, Part Time Heroes, Theory of Revolution, Twiddle, and Bill Burrell and the Sodbusters.

On Sunday nights, Matt can be found hosting the "HOMEBREW Show" on 99.9 FM The Buzz. The HOMEBREW Show features local musicians, bands, and artists in a variety of musical genres which is broadcast throughout the listening area of Burlington Vermont, Northern New York, and Montreal, Canada.

With growing family commitments and other personal and professional interests, Armand will continue to work at the studio on a limited and selective basis . He will assist Matt with both musical and technical expertise in every effort to fully support Deluvian Productions at Messier's Recording Studio.
